

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

32) An apparatus and method enabling the injection of fluid media into a plurality of patients in which is provided a fluid supply source providing multiple doses, metering means for measuring the doses, pressurizing means to effect injection, contamination preventing means between fluid source and patient and, when desired, electronic control means to integrate operation of the apparatus and process.

10050547 030402